

DANIELSON AND PUTNAM NEWS

DANIELSON

No one who speaks English has been able to learn the name of the subject of this incident, but it may be set down as a fact that a little Polish boy, undoubtedly seeking adventure, who boldly marched into the yawning mouth of the brook that runs under the N. Y. N. H. and H. R. R. company tracks, from a point opposite the Putnam company's plant to the J. C. Witter property on Cottage street, started something.

The tracks of the railroad are carried past this point on a high embankment, and under this, possibly 25 feet below, there is a walled way along the course of the brook, which passes under the embankment. The little adventurer, who startled the entire neighborhood by his venturesomeness, entered the big cavity with an idea of exploration, and, as he stepped into the brook, he had entered some distance, wading in the water, his courage must have ebbed, for he set up a yell that would do credit to a drowning giant and people from the White Row and the streets thereabout quickly assembled to determine "how come." Once stalled inside the tunnel, the boy seemed to lose his nerve completely and would neither go through to the easterly entrance, 25 feet or more beyond, nor would he come back by the way which he had entered. By the time two or three more troubled women and children had thoroughly sized up the situation and had visions of the boy drowning in the foot or less of water in the brook, he was followed in after the boy and brought him out—a very wet, bedraggled and penitent explorer, content to have his mother pet him and tell him that being in a much more lovely and peaceful amusement, when the season opens, than trying to emulate Jules Verne or any of that sort of thing, and that his mother would be glad to see him in the New England states and what is being done is winning unstinted praise.

Changes in fare brought about by the introduction of tokens on the local lines of the Connecticut company will become effective tomorrow (Wednesday). As the tokens may be purchased at three for 25 cents, they represent a reduction

PUTNAM

In fare from the present straight assessment of 10 cents for a ride of any one or portion thereof.

On and after Wednesday the cost of a ride from Danielson to Central Village will be reduced from 20 to 15 cents, which may be paid by handing over two tokens to the conductor. A ride to Moosup will cost 25 cents, as against a charge of 30 cents now in effect. From Danielson to Putnam the rate will be 25 cents, instead of 30. While these are not the low rates of the old days, the trend is downward and may be considered very reasonable, all things taken into account.

Two rubs of the eye were necessary in most cases, Monday morning, to convince the early rising citizen that the snow man had been about during the night and had dumped a quite heavy blanket of snow over the territory hereabouts. The fall was one of the heaviest of the winter and it came down in a hurry. The storm began just before 3 a. m. and by 8 a. m. had sifted in about six inches of snow. So rapidly did the snow come down during the very early hours of the morning that those who were out said that trying to see through it was much the same as looking through a dense fog.

State highway plows were out early and by noon had cleared up the main arteries of travel in this section. And as to this work, the state highway department was given quite a heavy praise. Frederick Warren, in charge of the work in Killingly, had Main street as clean as a whistle shortly after 9 a. m. By early afternoon, the snow did not interfere with motor traffic on trunk line highways no more than would a sharp summer afternoon shower. In clearing the state highways of snow, the Connecticut highway department workers have set a standard that is claimed by motorists who travel about the state to be the highest in the New England states and what is being done is winning unstinted praise.

All roads will lead to Danielson Saturday, when, under the auspices of the local chamber of commerce, its members will combine in a Dollars Day carnival of selling that is expected to match a similar event held on the first Saturday of last August—a real Red Letter day in the annals of local merchandising events. The August event drew buyers from about every section of eastern Connecticut, and the merchants here are confident that their combined effort toward making another huge selling day will be fully as productive of mutually successful results as was the late summer bargain day.

Monday, at a meeting of the trustees of the Brooklyn Savings bank, located in Danielson, a dividend at the rate of 4 1/2 per cent, per annum was declared, payable tomorrow, March 1. The report of the treasurer, Sidney W. Barr, showed an increase in the deposits for the past year of $144,264, and that $12,825 was carried to profit.

There is another evidence that Danielson and surrounding territory includes hundreds of thrifty persons—those who save something out of their earnings and set it aside against the time of need. In recent months, the bank has been much busier, but here is evidence that more of this kind of thing is without foundation, and that those who labor constantly, as seen to be the lot of the average mortal, and save something out of his earnings, need not worry about the present or the future.

The Brooklyn Savings bank is a barometer on which may be read the truth about the fundamental prosperity of this community—not the tinsel and the gilt of artificial living and expenditure—but the story of those who work and save, and the bank's depositors are a sure sign of the community's health. They may not have been spending lavishly during the winter, are in position to buy what they need and pay for it when the season may arise—and bring a change of view and the blowing off of the restraint that comes to most people of average means during a New England winter. For, remember, tomorrow (Wednesday) is the first of March.

Dr. L. J. Merin, proprietor of one of Danielson's drug stores, was reported Monday at seriously ill. His brother, Charles Merin, of Aponeau, also a registered pharmacist, is to come here to take charge of the business temporarily.

Mrs. Alphonsa Quintal was reported Monday as seriously ill at St. Vincent's hospital in Worcester.

A meeting of employees and officials of the S. N. E. R. company in Danielson hereabouts was held at the local office of the company on Monday.

Mrs. William Ross of Broad street,

FROM GIRLHOOD TO WOMANHOOD

Woman Relied Upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Emporia, Kansas.—"I began using Lydia E. Pinkham's medicines years ago when I was a girl. For several years I had severe menstrual periods, making me very weak and interfering with my regular duties. I tried several remedies without obtaining relief. I was induced to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound by friends and it restored me to normal health. I often have occasion to do recommend your Vegetable Compound to my friends who have troubles similar to my own. You may use these facts as a testimonial."

Eva Aldrich, 218 Union St., Emporia, Kansas.

There are many women who first used our Vegetable Compound during their girlhood days. They found it a valuable help during trying periods. In later years they use it whenever they feel those annoying symptoms which women often have.

It is prepared carefully from medicinal plants, whose properties are especially adapted to correct the troubles women have.

PUTNAM

The story about the cow infected with general tuberculosis, taken from a herd from which milk was being delivered to consumers in Putnam, which appeared in this column last Friday morning, has had its effect, according to Dr. Frederick T. Baldwin, who has invited health officials to see the diseased condition of the animal, which was taken in action, for the first time in several years in this city. He has boxed in Webster and other places but as there have been no exhibitions in Putnam, he has not appeared here. His opponent will be Red Boulay of Putnam. They will go eight rounds at 125 pounds. In the preliminary round, the winner will go to the finals. The winner will be a local boy. They will meet at 125 pounds and the bout is scheduled as a six round affair. Promoter Alpert has signed Jeff Tetrault of Putnam to be the referee. This is the first boxing card that has been arranged for Putnam since before the war and already there is much interest in the forthcoming event.

Putnam experienced its usual Monday storm. There were several inches of snow covering the ground and the mercury rose and the snow began to melt, turning a sloppy, slushy underfooting. The only benefit from the storm was that it furnished laborers in helping to clean up the business section.

Truck No. 1, of the fire department, was called out at one o'clock Monday afternoon for a small chimney fire that was extinguished without resulting damage.

St. Jean Baptist society is to hold its annual Mardi Gras observance. There will be a program of recitations, vocal and instrumental music and refreshments.

Hector Lacouture of Hartford spent Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank N. Lacouture, Bullock street.

Michael J. Dalgic, employed in the state treasurer's office, Hartford, spent Sunday with his mother, Mrs. Dalgic, in the city.

The first session of the Putnam juvenile court was held Monday morning. It being the first session in this city, Charles E. Dow, state commissioner of child welfare, was in attendance. Under the supervision of the court, the juvenile court is to be held in all towns and cities having city or police courts a new and separate juvenile court is established. While the officers are the same as in the city or police court, the two courts are separate and distinct and separate records are kept, only to be viewed by order of the judge. Spectators are to be kept children out of state institutions where possible. The work is new but the plan has been working satisfactorily so far. Commissioners Dow and Putnam have been in homes of relatives without, without investigation, they might have become state charges.

Two young men who were caught fishing for pickerel and with some fish in their possession were ordered to appear before Justice of the Peace Thomas Ryan at Thompson, Monday evening, but upon request of their counsel their cases were continued to Saturday. The young men were the name of LaFleur and said that they lived in North Grosvenordale. The season for pickerel fishing is closed on all ponds except by the owners of ponds. The two young men were fishing at West Thompson when caught by Game Warden Batty.

NORTH GROSVENORDALE

The week of Feb. 15th being Patriotic Song week throughout the United States, the social hour at the high school Monday morning, the 20th, was a musical one. A quartette from the senior class—Miss Evelyn Egle, Miss Clara Mathewson, Felix Greiner and Putnam Livingstone—sang several patriotic songs to a very appreciative audience. Preceding each musical number on the program, Miss Helen Kimball read a brief sketch of the origin and history of the song.

The program for the celebration of Feb. 22d was in charge of Miss Mowry and the pupils of the eighth grade. The exercises, which consisted of patriotic musical selections, declamations, and drills, were most effective. A color scheme of red, white and blue was carried out throughout the entire program. In addition to the many small flags, the gay costumes of the girls who took part in the exercises added much to the effect of the exercises.

The most important incident of the program was the presentation of an American flag to the high school by Peter Burnett in behalf of the eighth grade. The gift was formally accepted for the school by Supt. E. W. Kimball. The order of program was as follows: Song, America the Beautiful; declamation, George Washington, Leo Laporte; The American Flag, Helen Ingraham, Alice Locke, Marion Bates; Stand by the Flag, Margaret Lohse; song, Old Glory; Words of Lafayette, Minnie Towne; Union and Liberty, Theresa O'Brien, Milton Johnson, Gladys Bousquet and Harold Therox; Hesperus, Francis Tohill; song, Hail of the Free, Character of Washington, Anna Skotchless, Juliette Lamoureux and Elsie Buck; Old Glory, William Warren; Flag Drill, girls of grade 8; presentation speech, Peter Burnett; acceptance, Mr. Kimball; Salute to Flag, school; The Star Spangled Banner; declamation, Our Flag, James Smith; song, Red, White and Blue.

GALES FERRY

Under the auspices of the Country club the Saturday evening dance was given in the Country club house. The attendance for the past week, called a record of 13 to 17 in favor of the Uncasville course. The total score to date, stands, 52 to 53 in favor of Gales Ferry. The Mr. and Mrs. J. Otis Winchester were at their summer home here Washington's birthday.
